

Georgia

Forestar owns timberlands in Georgia. The timberlands consist primarily of genetically improved fast-growing southern yellow loblolly pines. The timber is well distributed across age classes. Our forest management regime is focused on growing high-value sawtimber trees while improving wildlife habitat and aesthetics, protecting water quality, and enhancing biological diversity.

